In order to securely communicate using PGP, the sender of an email must do which of the following when sending an email to a recipient for the first time?

- A. Export the sender's public key
- B. Import the recipient's private key
- C. Import the recipient's public key
- D. Export the sender's private key

Answer: C

Explanation:

See step 4 below.

1. When a user encrypts plaintext with PGP, PGP first compresses the plaintext.
2. PGP then creates a session key, which is a one-time-only secret key.
3. This session key works with a very secure, fast conventional encryption algorithm to encrypt the plaintext; the result is ciphertext.
4. Once the data is encrypted, the session key is then encrypted to the recipient's public key. This public key-encrypted session key is transmitted along with the ciphertext to the recipient.

Incorrect Answers:

- B. The recipient's public key, not the private key, is used.
 C, D: The sender's key is not used.
