NEW QUESTION: 2

You are experiencing performance issues with the database server.

You need to evaluate schema locking issues, plan cache memory pressure points, and backup I/O problems.

What should you create?

- A. an Activity Monitor session in Microsoft SQL Management

Studio.

B. a sys.dm_exec_session_wait_stats dynamic management view query

C. a sys.dm_exec_query_stats dynamic management view query

D. a System Monitor report

Answer: B

Explanation:

sys.dm_exec_session_wait_stats returns information about all the waits encountered by threads that executed for each session. You can use this view to diagnose performance issues with the SQL Server session and also with specific queries and batches.

Note: SQL Server wait stats are, at their highest conceptual level, grouped into two broad categories:

signal waits and resource waits. A signal wait is accumulated by processes running on SQL Server which are waiting for a CPU to become available (so called because the process has "signaled" that it is ready for processing). A resource wait is accumulated by processes running on SQL Server which are waiting for a specific resource to become available, such as waiting for the release of a lock on a specific record.

NEW QUESTION: 3

Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com.

You log on to a domain controller by using an account named Admin1. Admin1 is a member of the Domain Admins group.

You view the properties of a group named Group1 as shown in the exhibit. (Click the Exhibit button.)

Group1 is located in an organizational unit (OU) named OU1. You need to ensure that users from Group1 can modify the Security settings of OU1 only.

What should you do from Active Directory Users and Computers?

A. Right-click contoso.com and select Delegate Control.

B. Modify the Managed By settings on OU1.

C. Modify the Security settings of Group1.

D. Right-click OU1 and select Delegate Control.

Answer: D

Explanation:
